4 Rescuers Electrocuted

Wire Falls Into Water After Crash

BEJOU, MINN. (UPI) — Four persons were electrocuted today while trying to aid passengers of an automobile that had crashed into a power line pole.

A fifth person died of injuries in the wreck.

Three of those electrocuted were from passing automobiles, trying to go to the aid of survivors. The fourth was a passenger in the death car, who reached safety, then was electrocuted while returning to aid other survivors.

Five girls and one boy survived the crash and were hospitalized at Crookston. None was believed seriously hurt.

The driver of the car was William E. Schultz, 27, Winger. Donald Haugen, 20, Winger, was the passenger who escaped only to be electrocuted while trying to save his companions.

Passersby who died trying to aid the survivors were Marvin Duncan, 18, Fosston; Orville Rolf, Fosston, a passenger in Duncan's car, and Clark Hoidal, 21, Winger.

Both Duncan and Hoidal drove up to the scene of the crash shortly after 1 a.m. and waded into the ditch after the victims, only to die of electrocution instantly, authorities said.

Schultz and Haugen were electrocuted in the car.

The water in the ditch was only a foot and a half deep.

Rites at West Frankfort for Family of Five

WEST FRANKFORT, ILL. (UPI) — Friends and relatives paid final respects today to a family of five who died in a murder-suicide here Sunday.

The Rev. Glen Wheeler, who was to have performed the wedding ceremony of Herman Behn a few hours after the slayings, officiated at the combined funeral services in the First Christian Church.

Behn, 44-year-old jeweler, killed his mother, Mrs. Minnie Behn, 70, and his daughters, Kay, 10, Shirley, 12, and Linda, 14, with a claw hammer and pistol and then shot himself.

A coroner's jury ruled he was temporarily insane at the time.

"Through fulfillment of God's will we can expect the guidance, help, peace, forgiveness, salvation and comfort for which we search in this hour," the Rev. Wheeler said.

The minister made no reference in his sermon as to how the family died.

The sisters were dressed in identical pink linen dresses with small rose tiaras in their hair.

The 18 pallbearers were business men and civic and fraternal leaders.

Behn and his three daughters were buried in the same lot at Tower Heights Cemetery overlooking West Frankfort. His mother was buried beside her husband, August, who died 10 years ago.

Korean Vets' Bonus Moving Committees of Both House Back It; Will Hike Cigs Penny Pack

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — A 75-million-dollar Korean veterans bonus plan today was speeded along on its path toward legislative approval with unanimous support in committees of both the Senate and House.

The plan would be financed with a 1-cent increase in the cigarette tax and would pay $10 a month to an estimated 296,000 veterans for each month served in the armed forces between June 27, 1950, and July 27, 1953.

In addition, $100 payments would be made to Korean Service Medal holders, and $1,000 payments to the beneficiaries of persons who died in service during the war period.

The Senate Appropriations Committee recommended passage of the plan, which would be subject to a referendum, Wednesday.

An identical bonus bill in the House won unanimous approval from that chamber's Military Affairs Committee.

The House Executive Committee delayed action for another week on a series of bills aimed at preventing future Hodge scandals. Rep. George P. Coulakon (R-Springfield), who prosecuted former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, charged that Democrats were accusing Republicans of "stalling" on the bills.

Democratic Minority Leader Joseph L. DeLaCour (D-Chicago) denied the charge.

George Thornberry to Celebrate 99th Birthday

By MARY LOUISE STREICH
Register Staff Writer

There will be a fish fry at the Clyde Deal home just north of Galatia, on Friday. Guest of honor will be George Thornberry celebrating his 99th birthday.

"I won't be needing a walking cane, either," says George. As he walks toward his visitors to welcome them, it is quite evident that he does not need any assistance and probably will need none next year when he has invited this reporter to come to a fish fry to celebrate the "big one," meaning his 100th birthday. He thinks that this year will be rather quiet as there "isn't anything to make a fuss about."

Born in Log House
Favorite guests on this day, or any day, will be his two great-grandchildren Ronda Gale Deal, aged three, and Randy Deal, one year old. Grandchildren Keith Deal, Marilyn Thornberry and Donald Thornberry will pay their respects as will his four living children Rainey Thornberry of Raleigh, Mrs. Reba Hughes and Mrs. Ruth Deal of Galatia and Mrs. Georgia Rayborn of Raleigh.

Born March 22, 1858 in a floorless log house about a mile west of Raleigh, to William and Ersula Ann Grable Thornberry, George Thornberry lived more than 98 of his 99 years on the same farm. The original house burned about 40 years ago and the present neat frame house was built. The whole of this 102 1/2 acre farm was dedicated to young George when he was 16 years old and it is his pride that he never mortgaged it nor day was there ever a bill sent to his

Convicted in Slaying 28 Years Ago

PATERSON, N. J. (UPI) — A 63-year-old Jersey City used car dealer was convicted Wednesday of second degree murder in the gangland slaying of a rival bootlegger 28 years ago.

A jury deliberated more than four hours before returning a verdict against James (Cockeye) O'Leary, an ex-convict and the only known survivor of four prohibition era hoodlums indicted in 1929 for the slaying of Alex (Schmitzy) Szabo.

Szabo, 28, was gunned down in the rear of a Passaic garage May 21, 1929. In a deathbed statement, Szabo said he was shot by O'Leary and three others because he stole their ale burner, a device used in distilling bootleg alcohol.

O'Leary and the three others were indicted and released in bail which later was rescinded. However, the indictments lay forgotten until last December when Passaic County Acting Prosecutor Charles S. Joelsen discovered them while cleaning out some files.

O'Leary now faces a maximum of 30 years in prison.

Bench Writ For Stefko

SHAWNEETOWN, ILL. — County Judge Joseph Hale yesterday issued a bench warrant for Paul Stefko, mayor of Old Shawneetown, after the mayor failed to appear in Gallatin county court on charges of resisting arrest and aiding a person who was in the process of being arrested.

The House Executive Committee delayed action for another week on a series of bills aimed at preventing future Hodge scandals. Rep. George P. Coulakon (R-Springfield), who prosecuted former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, charged that Democrats were accusing Republicans of "stalling" on the bills.

Difficult, Perilous Task

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
At budget time in former years, Congress has resolutely set about cutting the President's money requests almost as a matter of course. But the lawmakers always assumed the White House had presented a budget it earnestly believed was essential in every detail.

They are not thus convinced in 1957.

When Mr. Eisenhower presented his figures for the coming year, he permitted his potent Treasury Secretary George Humphrey to assail them as too big.

Many legislators and a horde of others interested in the federal budget took this as an unmistakable sign the President didn't really believe in his new figures. There has been widespread feeling that he either ducked the task of tight budget-making, or didn't know how to bring it off.

Some observers have thought that Mr. Eisenhower was honestly torn between the desire for economy in government and the belief that many costly federal programs are necessary to meet the problems of this expanding country in a troubled age.

Whatever is in his mind, whatever the facts of budget preparation within the administration, the President plainly doesn't intend to revise his requests. He has tossed the ball to Congress.

The lawmakers obviously do not like this. Even though in past years they have relished the job of budget slashing, they didn't like to undertake that part of it which they feel is properly the administration's responsibility.

The President says big savings aren't possible unless sizable projects like the farm or the veterans' program are trimmed. And he adds that since these are authorized by Congress, the latter must decide which if any must suffer.

It is true that these things have been authorized on Capitol Hill. But most legislative programs originate in the executive branch of government.

"The President proposes, the Congress disposes," they used to say.

The responsibility for government programs generally is a joint one. If a major project is to be heavily slashed, the matter hardly seems one for congressional decision alone.

The budget situation this year is extremely puzzling. Probably there are not too many Americans who feel that up to now the administration has discharged its full responsibility toward the vital budget-making assignment.

Twentieth Century Explorer

Americans can be deeply proud that almost to the end of his richly fruitful life Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd actively searched out the world's unknown corners.

He was the first man in history to fly over both the North and South poles. He was in the third plane which crossed the Atlantic nonstop from west to east. After a flight packed with danger and difficulty, he crash-landed the aircraft on the French coast in a storm.

His famous expeditions to the Antarctic put America in the vanguard of exploration in a vast uncharted area. His management of these was masterly, a triumph of superb organization. His and his colleagues' findings contributed mightily to the world's knowledge of the great polar continent.

Last year he was down there again, heading the preparatory force making ready for American contribution to the International Geophysical Year of 1957-58.

Luckily for him, Byrd gained ample recognition for his relentless pursuit of the unknown. He was a handsome symbol of the tireless spirit of adventure that Americans like to think is their inborn trait.

In the long, unfolding story of man's quest for knowledge of the earth, a big chapter must be reserved for the purposeful wanderings of Richard E. Byrd.

"We Gotta Get a Bigger Rug"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Will Ike Meet Queen Elizabeth As He Did King Saud? Stirring Diplomatic Discussion; Negro Prime Minister Did Not Meet Nixon In Africa; Lyndon Johnson Holds Charm School.

WASHINGTON — There was a certain amount of diplomatic joshing about the manner in which President Eisenhower went to the airport to meet King Saud of Saudi Arabia, while refusing to meet other dignitaries. This question of who-meets-whom, however, is no joke in other world capitals.

It has been the topic of so much private discussion that the British foreign office has sounded out the State Department informally as to whether Eisenhower would go to the airport to meet Queen Elizabeth if she visits Washington next fall. The implication was understandably clear that the Queen would probably not come to Washington if she rated below the king of backward but oil-rich country where slave trading is still legal.

The question of who-meets-whom was also discussed inside British diplomatic circles in regard to the visit of President Eisenhower to Bermuda. It was even suggested again, informally, that Prime Minister Macmillan might arrive in Bermuda after the President, thus letting Ike be met by Foreign Secretary Lloyd.

The idea was, of course, discarded. But the fact that it was even discussed indicates the extent to which foreign governments have resented the fact that such old friends of the United States as Winston Churchill were not met by Eisenhower while the King of Saudi Arabia was.

The British, incidentally, are not alone. The new Negro state of Ghana began taking its newfound independence seriously when Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah did not show up at the airport to meet Vice President Nixon. The excuse was the same one as that given by Eisenhower in the past—namely, that Nixon was not head of a state.

The snub given by the Negro prime minister, incidentally, is sure to touch off chuckles in Capitol cloakrooms, especially among old-line Democrats and southern Democrats who resented Nixon's sudden switch in favor of killing filibusters — a switch they said was inspired by a desire to win Negro votes.

UNDER THE DOME

Sen. Lyndon Johnson has been wooing newsmen at private breakfasts in what are now called "Lyndon's charm schools." The Democratic leader is both vocal and vigorous. If he said in public what he tells newsmen, he would make more headlines on Capitol Hill. Here are recent samples: "Either Dulles lied to congressional leaders or Nasser lied to Dulles regarding Egypt's move back into the Gaza Strip." . . . "The Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East is a bunch of hogwash." . . . "I am shocked that the three leaders of the United States government should all be out of the country at the same time." . . . When visiting the U. S. A., Queen Frederika of Greece was so upset when she learned the President would not come to the union station to meet her that she refused at first to take the train from New York to Washington. . . . Actually, the President has not followed the explanation officially given at the time of King Saud's visit that he only goes to the airport or railroad station to welcome heads of state. No fewer than 15 heads of state have come to Washington, yet the only one he met was King Saud. The list includes: The King and Queen of Greece, the President of Italy, the President of Brazil, the President of Uruguay, the President of Turkey, Governor General Vincent Massey of Canada, President Remon of Panama, the Emperor of Ethiopia, President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, President Tubman of Liberia, the Shah of Iran, President Maguire of Haiti, President Castillo Armas of Guatemala, and President Sukarno of Indonesia.

MRS. NIXON AND ST. PAT

Cables from Rome report that much was made of Mrs. Nixon's birthday on March 17 and the fact that she came into the world on St. Patrick's Day.

Mrs. Nixon is a gracious lady whose birthday would be unimportant if it were not for the fact that the vice president has won over Irish voters with the idea that his wife "Patricia" was a kindred soul of the patron saint of Ireland. However, Mrs. Nixon's birth certificate filed in Ely, Nev., shows that she was born not on St. Patrick's Day, but on March 16, 1912, and that her name was not Patricia, but Thelma Catherine Ryan. According to Dr. A. F. Adams, the doctor who signed the certificate, Mrs. Nixon came into the world at 3:25 a. m. on March 16.

Rep. Choate Praises
Easter Seal
Campaign Workers

Outstanding gains in the rehabilitation of crippled children through the years must be credited in great measure to the voluntary health and welfare agencies and their independent campaigns of public education and financing. Representative Clyde L. Choate, president of the Southern Illinois Association for the Crippled, Inc., said this week.

Choate spoke at a rally meeting at Carbondale of Easter Seal volunteers who met to map final plans for the 1957 Easter Seal campaign which opened March 15th.

"Once a year," he said, "we are given the great privilege of doing something substantial and tangible for crippled children. It is a privilege cherished in America as an expression of our freedom—the freedom to help whom we choose and as we choose.

"The volunteer agency which conducts its own campaign for funds is one of the most significant upholders of this tradition," Choate declared.

He called upon volunteers to "make the most" of this privilege by reminding them that "the Easter Seal campaign is far more than a money-raising project.

"It is a program to open the eyes, to inform the minds, to warm the heart, and to stimulate the noblest impulses in people," he said.

Friday, March 22, at 7:30 p. m., the Senior class of Galatia Community high school will present "Mama's Baby Boy," a three-act comedy.

The story takes place in the Fort Wayne, Ind., home of Mrs. Shepherd McLean (Sue Fowler), a young widow of forty, looking years younger, who has spent all of her late husband's money, and is desperately trying to land a handsome widower, Luther Long (Leland Springs), who, she thinks, is wealthy. Mrs. McLean's 18-year-old son, Shepherd, (Joe Mc-Pherson) comes home from school to complicate matters, and finds he must help his mother win the wealthy man, if he is to continue going to school. Mrs. McLean borrows some money from Mrs. Carlotta Anglin, (Jo Ann Hall), a new friend, especially interested in joining all the women's clubs in town.

When Mr. Long arrives with his 17-year-old daughter, Juliet, (Brenda Starkey), dressed as a 12-year-old girl, things begin to develop into a riot of laughter. Mrs. Blackburn, (Evalene Brad-

A Saline Association-wide Music training school will be held at the Eldorado First Baptist church beginning Monday, March 25 and continuing through Thursday, Mar. 28. The course will be held each evening from 7 to 9. The Music department annually offers a course of training in basic principles for singers, choristers, beginning theory, hymn playing, choral techniques, completion of which entitles a person to a worker's diploma.

Three classes will be taught for the members of some 33 churches and missions comprising the association. Anyone 13 years of age or over may get credit for three nights of attendance. A recess will be spent in choral work between sessions and Monday the first music department film, "The Heart That Sings," will be shown.

Mrs. Madge Daugherty, Raleigh, associational music director, and Mrs. Gil Montgomery, Eldorado, director of training, cordially invites friends as well as members to take part.

State Secretary of Music Earl Wayne Morris will teach "The Beginning Vocalist"; Mrs. Albert Moore of Zeigler will teach "Technique of Conducting"; Miss Carol Smith of Murphysboro will teach "Practical Music Lessons."

Mr. Morris is the new secretary, succeeding Eugene Quinn. He comes from Southern Seminary in Louisville, Ky., and this will be his first visit. Mrs. Moore also is talented and has served on the State Music committee and on the State school faculty for several years. Miss Smith is on the staff at the Southern Illinois College of the Bible, and recently was music director at Cairo.

Symington Speaks Out Against Present Foreign Policy of United States

CHICAGO AP — Sen. Stuart Symington Wednesday night called for an American foreign policy that "creates events rather than allows events to create it."

"Our foreign policy now appears to be one of expediency," Symington charged.

The Missouri Democrat charged that the present administration's outlook toward world communism and the Middle East crisis is "alarmingly similar" to the attitude Britain took toward Nazism in the 1930s.

Symington spoke at a dinner honoring Democratic National Committeeman Jacob M. Arvey, the end of that 2 1/2 year period,

Disability Benefits New Type Protection

People who have become unable to work because of severe and long-lasting disabilities have a new type of protection under the social security law, but according to the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, which administers the new provisions, many are not applying for their rights.

For many disabled people, failure to file an application with their social security district offices before the end of June will mean the loss of all their social security disability protection, and for some it will also mean the loss of their rights to any old-age and survivors insurance benefits for themselves and their families in the future. Should a disabled worker die without having filed an application to protect his social security disability rights, the survivors benefits payable to his family under the social security law may be greatly reduced.

700,000 Eligible

The Bureau says that an estimated 700,000 severely disabled men and women in the country have worked long enough under social security to be eligible to have their social security records frozen under a 1954 provision in the law. When a disabled worker's record is frozen, the years when his disability keeps him from working are not counted against him in figuring the social security benefits due him in the future or payable to his family in case of his death. Of the 700,000, about 400,000 people—those between 50 and 65 years of age—are eligible for monthly disability insurance benefits beginning with July.

Although social security district offices have been accepting applications from disabled workers since January 1, 1955, the Bureau reports that many of those eligible have not yet applied. Under the law, workers who were already disabled were given 2 1/2 years to apply to protect their social security rights. After June 30, 1957, the end of that 2 1/2 year period, an application will be effective to freeze a worker's social security record for no more than one year back.

Certain Requirements

A disabled person must meet certain work requirements at the beginning of his official "period of disability." He must have social security credit for at least 5 out of the 10 years before he became disabled, and at least a year and a half of the credit must have been earned in the three years just before his official "period of disability" began.

If application for the "disability freeze" is not made before June 30, 1957, many disabled workers may no longer meet these work requirements at the beginning of the earliest "period of disability" which can be entered on their social security records. In this case, they would not be eligible to have their social security records frozen, and in addition, they would be ineligible to receive monthly disability insurance benefits at age 50. These disabled workers would have to wait until regular retirement age to receive any social security benefits and those benefits would be reduced because the years in which they were unable to work would lower the average earnings upon which their social security benefits are based. For some younger workers, delay in making application might also mean a complete loss of all social security benefit rights.

Keep Strong Embargo Against Communist Reds, Kai-Shek Urges

TAIPEI AP — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek warned the United States and Britain today they "will be helping to defeat themselves" if they relax the strategic goods embargo against Communist China.

The Nationalist Chinese president told United Press in an exclusive interview that any ease-up on the embargo "would be helping the Chinese Communists to pull their chestnuts out of the fire."

Chiang termed Communist peace rumors "groundless" and denied Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's charge that the United States has turned Formosa into a dependency.

Find 22 Guilty Of Violating Bus Segregation Rules

By United Press
Recorders Court Judge Ralph Parker found 22 Negroes guilty today of violating bus segregation ordinances in Birmingham, Ala. Parker ordered each of the defendants to pay $55 in fines and court costs.

The judge said if bus segregation were not enforced, there "would be a state of emergency in Birmingham."

"I will not be responsible for such a calamity," he said. Negro attorney Arthur Shores asked for a week to decide whether to appeal the cases.

The Negroes were arrested last Dec. 26 when, they intentionally violated Birmingham's bus segregation laws in a test of their legal rights.

Link Beck in Real Estate Transaction

WASHINGTON — Teamster Union boss Dave Beck was linked recently in a local real estate deal with a mystery man who has been accused of receiving more than $20,000 of union funds, it was revealed today.

The previous undisclosed transaction—unearthed by United Press—is known to the Senate Labor Rackets Committee, which planned to spring it on the pudgy president of the nation's biggest union when it cross-examines him on his personal finances.

The Treasury Department also is known to be looking into the transaction.

The United Press learned of the transaction independently. Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy conceded he knew of the deal but would make no further comment.

Real estate records of Montgomery County, Md., adjacent to the nation's capital, disclosed that Beck bought a plush five-bedroom brick house in an upper-middle class district on Aug. 25, 1953, for about $29,000.

Thirteen months later he transferred a half interest in the property to a friend, Nathan W. Shefferman, a Chicago free-lance "labor relations consultant" for management.

Beck and Shefferman, as co-owners, sold the house in 1955 for $32,500.

Kennedy, in a committee hearing last Friday, produced documents which he said showed that $20,068.27 of funds of the Western Conference of Teamsters found their way to Shefferman's bank account in Chicago in four checks between February, 1951, and November, 1952.

member election and is very positive and well informed about politics. He said, "Of course I voted in November and there's another election the 2nd of April and I'll vote in that one too." He talked of the first elections in which he voted, said that the voters just pushed their ballots through a window with everyone pushing and shoving and grabbing at them. He finds the present balloting much more to his taste.

There was one time when he thought he might join a lodge, but when he got home from the first meeting and realized that he would have to keep secrets from his wife, he renounced all organizations.

Mouse Halts 55-Car Train

WASHINGTON — A fat field mouse possibly with a wild springtime yen for deriding do has assured himself a niche in history.

He stopped a 56-car Pennsylvania Railroad freight train single-handed.

It wasn't easy.

The long train slid to a halt Wednesday four miles out of the Potomac railroad yards when its engineman couldn't throw a switch up ahead.

Help was called. Shouts and alarms probed the air. Technicians probed the switch.

Forty-six minutes later the trouble was discovered: The lifeless body of the devil-may-care mouse lay wedged between two electrical contacts breaking the switch circuit.

It was difficult to determine whether the mouse's face wore a smile of triumph.

Labor, Health Budgets Slashed

WASHINGTON — The House Appropriations Committee today approved with only minor reductions requested funds to finance the government's welfare and labor programs next year.

The committee cut only 3.8 percent in a presidential request for $2.9 billion to run the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare departments, and related minor agencies, in the 12 months starting July 1.

Today's reductions were noticeably smaller than those made by the committee in appropriations bills acted on previously.

The committee voted routine cuts throughout the Labor Department budget and managed a few from the Health, Education and Welfare departments. Most of the big medical, research, and hospital programs got all they asked, however.

The committee claimed total cuts of $114.9 million, recommending to the House appropriations of about $2.8 billion. But a big chunk of the reduction—$73.4 million—was in grants to states for public assistance programs, and represented no more than the committee's belief that demand won't be as high as estimated by the social security administration. If the money runs out, more will have to be provided later.

The committee is out to whack $4.5 billion or more off President Eisenhower's record $71.8 billion budget for the new fiscal year.

However, today's action was on a bill which members said wasn't subject to heavy reductions.

Here are key allowances in the bill as approved:

Labor Department, $364,366,300, a budget cut of $20,311,700.

Department of Health, Education and Welfare, $2,487,684,581, a budget cut of $94,430,000.

Power Probers To Plan Hearings

SPRINGFIELD — A House committee set up to investigate electric power rates in southern Illinois will meet here Tuesday to organize and plan public hearings.

Rep. Joseph Siemer (R-Effingham), chairman of the group, said at least one public hearing will be held at Springfield and one in southern Illinois. Additional hearings will be scheduled if necessary, Siemer said.

Rep. Bert Baker (D-Benton), sponsor of the bill which created the committee, is a member. Baker charged when he introduced the measure that excessive power rates in southern Illinois were driving out industry, and preventing industrial expansion in the southern one-third of the state.

Other committee members are Reps. Charles Willett (R-Dixon), Gordon Kerr (R-Brookport) and Lloyd Harris (D-Granite City). The committee will report its findings to the House by May 15.

Siemer said the committee will use files and facilities of the Illinois Commerce Commission and the Legislative Research Council to aid the investigation.

25 Natives Hanged In South Africa

WASHINGTON — John S.

Coleman, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, called today for an increase in postal rates to put the post office on a self-supporting basis.

Coleman urged the increase in testimony prepared for the House Post Office Committee.

The committee is considering an administration bill that would increase postal rates by nearly half a billion dollars annually. It calls for a hike in the rate on first class mail from 3 to 4 cents.

It all took just 35 minutes.

Judge Upholds Firing Four School Board Members

MARION, Ill. — A Circuit Court Judge has upheld the action of a county superintendent of schools who fired four members of a school board last August.

Judge Harold Zimmerman ruled here today in favor of Williamson County School Supt. Russell Emery.

Emery ousted the four members for what he called "wilful failure to perform your duties."

Three members of the Crab Orchard Unit 2 School Board petitioned for re-instatement. They contended that Emery had not conducted a formal hearing and had not taken sworn testimony in the matter.

Zimmerman said a hearing was not necessary.

Americans Pile Up Record Debt

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans today have piled up an installment plan debt of $31 billion—the biggest personal debt in history.

A presidential study released Tuesday night said the primary reason that Americans are paying off on a record debt is their habit of buying automobiles on time.

The report said installment buying has boomed in the last 30 years. It said in the early 1920s Americans owed only about $1 billion for installment purchases.

The findings were included in a massive report by the Federal Reserve System after a year-long study of installment buying requested by President Eisenhower. The report was sent to the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

The report attributed the increase in installment buying primarily to the changes that have affected Americans in the past 30 years.

Since the turn of the century, it said, the average American lives in cities and suburbs rather than on farms, earns 2 1/2 times more than his 1900 counterpart, and has more leisure time to spend his money.

But at the same time, it said, the cost of goods and services has risen tremendously. It said installment buying is the only way the average man can bridge the gap between his cash on hand and the price of the appliance he wants.

Coaches Discuss
Rules Changes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—College basketball today appears headed toward less free throwing.

The nation's top coaches convened here to discuss rules changes for the game and top item on the list was the disliked one-and-one free throw system.

Reports from a Rules Committee meeting was that most coaches are unhappy with the current rules, and would like to switch to a system tried on an experimental basis this past season in the Big Ten.

Under the Big Ten system, the one-and-one does not apply to the first six fouls in each half. But outside of that lone conference, a foul played trudged to the line in most cases knowing that if he could make his first shot, he would get a "bonus" try.

Don Larsen is Routed by Reds
In First Start

By United Press

Don Larsen has made his long-awaited spring debut as a model of deportment for the New York Yankees and the unanimous verdict is that he never looked worse.

The Cincinnati Redlegs made the World Series perfect game hero look like nothing more than a perfect batting practice pitcher as they routed the Yankees, 20-6.

Wednesday with a barrage of 25 hits, Larsen, pitching for the first time since his Oct. 8 epic against the Brooklyn Dodgers, retired the first two batters he faced but then was sacked for five runs and six hits before retiring after three innings.

43 Total Bases

The Redlegs went on from that point to batter rookies Al Cicotte and Jack Urban with an attack good for 43 total bases and hand the Yankees what is believed to be their worst Grapefruit League loss since 1925. George Crowe, Jerry Lynch and Smokey Burgess collected a Homer and a triple each and Don Hoak also weighed in with a triple.

The Boston Red Sox, who could not buy a run in the early days of Grapefruit League competition, went on their third straight scoring rampage when they downed the Chicago White Sox, 9-4. Dick Gernert drove in three runs and Billy Klaus knocked in two to lead the Red Sox' 11-hit attack.

Clem Labine, Bob Darnell and rookie Rene Valdes turned in a nifty four-hitter as the Brooklyn Dodgers scored a 2-1, 11-inning victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Games Rained Out Harvey Kuenn and Charley Lau knocked in two runs each to lead the Detroit Tigers on an 8-4 decision over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who suffered their fourth loss in 12 games.

Richie Ashburn's bloop single knocked in two eighth-inning runs to lift the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-4 win over the Washington Senators. Ed Bouchee's three-run Homer and Bob Bowman's solo shot accounted for the Phillies' first four runs.

The Milwaukee Braves squared their spring record at 6-6 with a 3-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics with rookie Jerry Nelson picking up the decision.

Chicago-New York at Phoenix and Baltimore-Cleveland at Tucson were rained out.

Bradley and St.

In NIT Semifinals

NEW YORK (UPI)—Record-busting Bradley and "hungry" St. Bonaventure will be the unhappy favorites tonight when the semifinal round of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament matches four teams who were supposed to be back home reading about it in the newspapers.

St. Bonaventure is favored by three points over speedy Memphis State in the opening game of the twin bill and second-seeded Bradley is a 3-1-2 point pick over Temple.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

Guess it takes an upset victory to create excitement.

A year ago I was one of the more than four thousand fans in the West Frankfort high school gymnasium to witness the "super sectional" basketball game featuring West Frankfort and favored Pinckneyville. West Frankfort won.

Immediately after the game, excited, wild-eyed WF fans spilled out on the floor and staged a victory celebration second to none.

The players and coach danced and yelled and afterward the dressing room was so crowded with well-wishers it was a long time before the tired, happy players had an opportunity to shower, dress and go out to receive more back-slaps and well-wishes.

West Frankfort won.

From the opening tipoff to the final whistle at least two photographers operated with flash equipment. One at each end of the court. Flashes were visible many times and the photographers were out in the open where anyone interested could spot them.

Guess the announcement only applied to those who wished to comply.

The rule makes sense, but not if it isn't enforced.

Eldorado teen-age baseball players will participate in the American Legion sponsored baseball program this year it has been announced by Troy Hicks, team manager.

A few weeks ago Eldorado was voted into the Coal Belt league, but Hicks stated Tuesday he favored Legion ball as the rules on aged limited players from 15 to 17½ years of age, whereby the Coal Belt loop permits boys to play as long as they are still in their teens.

We haven't had baseball for the youth of Eldorado long enough for the players to be ready to play in the older, faster competition," Hicks declared.

American Legion Post 169, Eldorado, has voted to sponsor the team and elected Earl Brown, Homer Mangrum and Dickie Davis to the post's baseball commission and Troy Hicks post athletic officer and team manager.

Teams in the 24th district will represent American Legion posts in Albion, Flora, Fairfield, Carmi, Norris City, Rosiclare, Metropolis and Eldorado and it is possible Ridgway will field a team, Hicks said.

Recent story from Tulane University praised this season's freshman basketball team and had some nice words for the two Shawneetown boys on the squad.

"They really are a fine group of prospects," Tulane Coach Cliff Wells is quoted with regard to the club.

Included in the story "... Probably the most improved boy or the team, according to Wells, is 6'2" Al Gunzel of Shawnee, Illinois ..." "... Another fine prospect is Jack Nolan, also from Shawneetown. Nolan was named to the All-Southern Illinois team last year."

So I believed what I was told. Disassembled my camera and packed it in my little bag, left the

Herrin, Elgin to Clash in State Tourney; Kahoks Meet Galesburg

Quarter-Finals
Will Begin at Champaign Friday

By United Press

A clash between unbeaten Elgin, which survived the biggest scare of its season against Bloom, and the Herrin Tigers, whose stock has been soaring since they smashed Pinckneyville, rated today as the top attraction in the quarter-final round of the state high school basketball tournament.

Other quarter-final games at Champaign Friday will match Collinsville's undefeated Kahoks against Galesburg's small but speedy Silver Streaks; Champaign, which is making a habit of winning the close ones, against the Ottawa Pirates; and Evanson's Suburban League champions against the Raiders from Quincy Notre Dame.

Top billing on the first day program, though, has to go to the Elgin-Herrin battle.

Paced by 6-7 center Chuck Brandt, Elgin has rolled up 27 straight triumphs to gain second spot in the United Press ratings. But Bloom nearly proved the Mavrons were not invincible in Tuesdays supersectional by leading most of the way and losing by 1 point only when Elgin's Gary Kane popped in a basket with 37 seconds left in the game.

Some Have Height

Herrin, meanwhile, was stretching its record to 28-2 with an easy 57-44 romp over Mount Vernon. And Coach Earl Lee's crew proved to any doubters that they mean trouble for any team when they polished off highly regarded Pinckneyville, 76-47, in the sectionals.

Center John Tidwell sparkplugs the Tiger attack. Elgin will have a height advantage with two 6-4 men and another starter at 6-5, while Tidwell at 6-4 is Herrin's tallest player, followed by forward Ivan Jefferson at 6-3.

Collinsville, ranked first in the state on a 32-0 record, also will hold a big height advantage over the scrappy Galesburg team.

Collinsville is led by 6-7 center Terry Bethel, and 6-5 forward Tom Jackson. Other starters are 6-2 forward Tracy Wilhoit, 6-3 guard Ernie Wilhoit and 5-10 guard Jim Soehke.

Galesburg's tallest starter is 6-1 center Al Williams, and all other members of the first five are under 6 feet.

Easterbrook Leads Champaign

But the Silver Streaks made good use of their speed and skill in ball control tactics. They beat powerful Rock Island in the sectionals, 23-21, by holding on to the ball. Galesburg is 23-6 for the season.

On past performance, anything can happen in the Champaign-Ottawa game. Champaign came from behind to beat Rantoul by 2 points in the sectional and squeaked by Marion by 1 point in the supersectional.

Ottawa gained the quarter-final round in a double overtime sudden death thriller with Pekin, winning by 2 points.

John Easterbrook is the big scorer for Champaign, while Ottawa's offense is led by center Francis Clements and guard Jerry Varland.

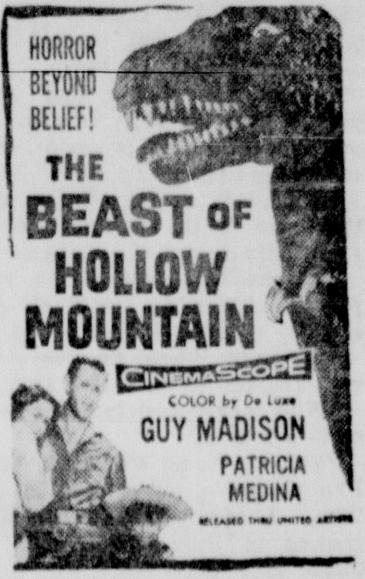

Champaign has a 24-5 season mark, while Ottawa is 27-4.

Quincy Notre Dame's Raiders are led by 6-5 senior center John Flynn and 6-5 sophomore forward Bill Kurs. The Raiders showed themselves to be sharpshooters in hitting a blistering 50% percentage from the field in downing Springfield in the supersectionals. They have a 28-2 record.

Evanston's Wildkits own a 21-3 record and are led by Suburban League scoring champ, guard Dave Tremaine.

XX postponed for a few weeks."

The third arrival on the train that day walked from the depot, past the hotel and entered The Longhorn Saloon. He had a drink, surveyed the games that were played even so early in the day and in a little while produced some money and proceeded to play faro.

He played for five minutes and then said to the dealer, "Mister, I don't like that card box of yours."

The dealer stared at the new player. "Who do you think you are?"

"My name," said the new player, "happens to be Jack Mason—"

"Wild Jack!" exclaimed the dealer in a tone of awe.

"Yes, sir," said Wild Jack, "and I've played a bit of faro in my time. I never liked a box that showed so little of the cards. I like a nice, open box." Wild Jack smiled coldly. "I am not suggesting you are dishonest, but it makes me feel better to have everything open and above-board."

Tom Alder, who had been having a quiet drink at the bar, came over and watched the dealer replace his regular faro box with a new one from his bag.

Alder's eyes remained on Wild Jack and the latter suddenly turned to him.

"You're staring at me, sir!"

"Cost anything to look?" asked Alder mildly. "You're a famous man. I've heard about you."

"My pleasure, sir. And your name . . . ?"

Alder shrugged deprecatingly.

"Alder."

"Not . . . Tom Alder?"

"Yes."

"Well," said Wild Jack, somewhat at a lack of words, "I must admit I have heard of you, too. Although not favorably." He essayed a weak smile. "We were on opposite sides during the recent conflict."

"We gave you the business a couple of times, I believe."

"Not in a fair fight," snapped Wild Jack. "We fought in the open and you, sir, belonged to a gang of bushwhackers."

Alder smiled, but there was no warmth in the smile. "And a good day to you—sir!" He nodded and turned, walking out of the saloon.

Wild Jack looked after him.

"Bushwhacker!" he said.

Nathan Foss left Pawnee City the following day. In one of his fine leather valises he carried a parcel containing $50,000.

"We can't tell Chad," Joe Jagger said to his sister who, of course, had to know about the transaction with her erstwhile employer. "He'd raise an unhappy row about it."

"What if he decides to look at the books?"

"You've got to keep him from doing that."

Helen suddenly groaned. "I promised to go to Kansas City with Chad on Saturday."

"To get married?" Jagger frowned. "I'd feel safer if the books were taken care of. You'll want a honeymoon of a week or two—and you should have it—but what'll I do with the books while you're gone?"

"I know," said Helen reluctantly. "The wedding will have to be

Woman Who Shot Husband Asks Double Indemnity

OTTAWA, Ill. (UPI)—A Circuit Court trial was underway today on a double indemnity insurance suit brought by a woman who shot her husband to death.

Mrs. Gladys Wylie, 47, Leoni, Ill., shot her husband, Leslie, in 1954 after he allegedly beat her. A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by a coroner's jury and a grand jury took no action in the case.

Morgan was not aware of the arrival in Pawnee City of Judson Dranke. Strangers were coming to Pawnee City almost every day of the week. Some came by train, some rode in on horseback, some came in carriages, buggies and even muleback.

Things were moving behind the scenes. Morgan was aware of that. He would enter The St. Louis Store and find Tarbox in discussion with Buffington, Fesler, Wakeman or another Pawnee City businessman. There would be a brief, awkward pause, then they would talk casually to Morgan of trivial matters.

Morgan was no longer in the confidence of the businessman and they kept the account of their machinations pretty well undercover, until the second issue of The Pawnee City Lance came out.

"City to Form Government," read the headline. The three-column article told the entire story. Under the guidance of the noted former judge of Kansas City, Judson Drake, papers of incorporation had been drawn up. Business establishments would be taxed to bear the expense of governing the city. A temporary board of five supervisors was offering a slate of candidates to the voters of Pawnee City, in an election to be held August first—a bare week from the announcement. The slate:

For Mayor:
Charles Fesler
For Justice of the Peace
Judson Drake
For Supervisors:
Alfred Buffington
Harlow Tarbox
John Thompson
Oliver Wakeman
Chad Morgan

Election of the unopposed candidates was a certainty. Newspapers, fresh off Fesler's press, were distributed by Fesler himself. Morgan, in the real-estate office when he received the paper, seated himself at his desk and waited for the explosion.

It came within 10 minutes, Joe Jagger having received his newspaper at the hotel. It took about eight minutes for Fesler, on his rounds, to reach the hotel from the real-estate office.
